

After viewing the ARRL video of their tests in the trial areas, I have to say that the BPL industry has managed to give a new and cynical meaning to the term "unintentional radiation." If they are allowed to increase their power levels to those used in their trials, it will effectively make the HF spectrum unusable for any licensed radio service